NATIVE TWINS 81 YEARS OLD

Sisters Born In County
On June 28, 1858; Live
Lives In This District

Probably the oldest native-born twins of the county, Mrs. Josephine Love and Mrs. Agnes Tripp observed their eighty-first birthday anniversaries on last June 28th.

Although they have not both lived in this county since birth, it is a fact that they have both made their homes in either Amador or El Dorado County throughout their lives.

They were born three miles east of Nashville on June 28th, 1858.

Mrs. Love resides in El Dorado County, east of Shingle Springs and about a mile south of the 40-Mile Ranch. She is the mother of four children of whom two are living.

Mrs. Tripp resides near Nashville, just across the county line in Amador County. She is the mother of seven children of whom four are living. Each of the twins is a grandmother several times.

Both are well, reasonably hearty and able to attend to their own housework.

Adolph Beattie Rites Friday

Pioneer Georgetown Native Died On Wednesday At Residence In Oakland

The funeral services for Adolph Beattie, 80, native of Georgetown, and a member of the pioneer Beattie family of Georgia Slide, will be held at the Methodist church at Georgetown at 2 o'clock on Friday afternoon under the auspices of Georgetown Parlor No. 91, Native Sons of the Golden West, Rev. J. W. Dunlop will assist in the service. Interment will be at Georgetown cemetery.

Mr. Beattie died Wednesday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Clinton Benjamin, at Oakland. A miner during his active life, his family owned the Beattie Mine at Georgia Slide. Mr. Beattie had retired a number of years ago.

The arrangements for the funeral services were concluded with the assistance of Memory Chapel under whose supervision the body was brought from Oakland to Placerville on Wednesday.

Mr. Beattie is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Benjamin and Miss Annie Beattie, both of whom reside at Oakland.

In the current issue of the Woman's Home Companion, an advertisement for a toilet soap contains a portrait of Mrs. Francis Snyder, identified as "of San Francisco." Mrs. Snyder is the wife of Francis Snyder, of Placerville, and is the former Emery McHale.

SCHOOL'S OBLIGATION IN TEACHING AUTO DRIVING

(This is the first of a series of articles contributed by Thomas Chard, of the high school faculty, who has recently returned from a school for motoring safety, conducted at Berkeley by Prof. F. R. Noffsinger and Prof. A. E. Neyhart, educational consultants for the American Automobile Association, under whose auspices they had conducted similar schools at Duke University, the University of Oklahoma, and the University of Michigan, earlier in the summer. Mr. Chard was interested in taking the course in the support of a preliminary study of a similar nature which he conducted last year at the county high school.—Ed. Note.)

By THOMAS CHARD

When one stops to consider that in the last fifteen years there have been more people killed in automobile accidents than in all of our wars from 1776 to the present time, he gets some conception of the destruction of human lives caused by the use of motor vehicles.

This destruction is not decreasing, but is steadily increasing. We are making better cars, building apparently safer highways, improving the policing of those highways, but the death rate keeps on climbing. To these startling statistics must be added the injured, some of whom are maimed for life. It is estimated that more than one out of every hundred persons is injured each year.

As we try to visualize the future with its forty million drivers, all of us are in accord that something MORE must be done. The public is aware of certain agencies giving their time and effort to help educate us to our obligations as automobile drivers. Some have been trying to scare us into being better drivers; but we, especially the younger ones, don't scare easily.

The State of Pennsylvania has put up hideous signs every place a serious accident has taken place, but this does not seem to do much except destroy the beauties of the landscape.

What is to blame for such a frightful loss of life? There is only one answer: The driver of the car. It is estimated that over ninety per cent of highway accidents could be prevented and of these accidents figures show that the driver of high school age is involved in TEN TIMES as many fatal accidents as (Continued on Page 4)

OLD-TIME RESIDENTS PAY VISIT TO PLACERVILLE

During the first week of August, a group of old-time residents paid a visit to Placerville and were warmly greeted by their old friends and schoolmates. The group included:

Mandy Meyers, formerly resident in the Poverty Point section, who will be remembered as a young lady employed in the Wells Fargo office some forty years ago;

William B. Harvey, formerly of Shingle Springs, who was accompanied by her daughter, a San Francisco attorney;

J. Joseph Dooley, who will be remembered as an altar boy at St. Patrick's Church some sixty years ago;

Charles P. Bogan, who traveled in this territory and along the road to Lake Tahoe as a salesman in the horse and buggy days of before prohibition; and,

Harvey G. Smith, who was at the wheel for the party.

$2,500 Additional Asked For Rubicon Road Repair

The Board of Supervisors at their meeting on Wednesday of this week approved a resolution applying for an additional allocation from the state for $2,500 to assist in the repair of storm damage to the road in the Rubicon Country above Spider Lake. Supervisor William Breedlove has had a crew working on the road on a section this side of Spider Lake this summer. The allocation sought would come from the emergency storm damage repair fund set up by the Legislature in 1938.

Georgetown Man Laid At Rest Thursday

The funeral services for Oliver Mancell, 73, of Georgetown, who died early Wednesday, were held at the graveside at Middletown cemetery on Thursday morning, the Rev. Haven N. Davis officiating.

Mr. Mancell was a native of Alabama, resident 48 years in California and 35 years in the Georgetown district, a carpenter by trade. Steward E. J. Willard, of the county hospital, was unable to learn of any surviving relatives.

William J. Andersen returned Wednesday from a Market Week visit at San Francisco.

CITY CLERK'S REPORT MADE

Fiscal Year Reviewed;
$156,985 In Building
Includes 42 New Homes

By ESTHER MAHLER

Placerville City Clerk
The publishing of the annual financial report of the City of Placerville each year, is to familiarize citizens and taxpayers with all the financial transactions for the fiscal year ending June 30th, giving in detail all receipts and expenditures.

The tax rate for the year was $1.80 for each $100.00 of assessed valuation which was 10c higher than the previous year. This slight increase was to take care of coupons and bonds coming due on the $50,000 sewer bond voted in 1937. The total assessment roll was $1,814,235.00, an increase of $37,450.00 over the previous year. The tax delinquency was extremely low—only $410.76 remaining unpaid on June 30th.

Prison Penalty For Chiseling

Unprecedented Superior Court Trial Convicts
5 Of Relief Thefts

VISALIA, (UP)—Convicted of relief chiseling in an unprecedented superior court trial, five members of one family today were branded as "undesirable citizens," and received penalties ranging from a prison term to probation.

The family was accused of receiving nearly $900 in relief money during a period in which it has a gross income of $6,000.

Mrs. Olive Dalerio, 57, described by Probation Officer F. G. Crowell as head of the family, was sentenced to Tehachapi women's prison on charges of grand theft and conspiracy to commit theft.

One son, Oreno, was ordered to serve six months in the county road camp as a provision of five years probation. He also was convicted of grand theft and conspiracy.

The father, Frank Dalerio, 60, and George, 21, and Louise, 28, were admitted to straight probationary terms of three years. The latter two were convicted only of conspiracy.

The probation officer's report described the Dalerios as "undesirable citizens." Their trial was the first in a California superior court on relief chiseling charges.

SHORT CLAIMS ALIBI; BROWER SENDS WORD HE "WILL TALK"

While county officials were this week checking an alibi of William J. Short, arrested for investigation in connection with the year-old slaying of Frank Ernst, they received word from William Frederick Brower, serving a San Quentin term for the murder, that he "will talk."

Short was taken to San Quentin last Thursday by authorities who questioned him and also Brower, separately and jointly. Brower, they reported, declined to substantiate his testimony before the county grand jury, accusing Short, which was the basis of the year-long search for Short.

Short denied he was with Brower when Ernst was slain and gave officials an alibi which they are checking.

Meanwhile, Brower has sent word to the officials that he is willing to talk and District Attorney Henry S. Lyon said that he will visit the prison and see what Brower has to say.

PRELIMINARY BUDGET OF COUNTY IS OFF THE PRESS

The preliminary county budget has been printed and copies may be obtained upon application to Arthur J. Koletzke county clerk and auditor, at his office at the courthouse.

The Board of Supervisors has given public notice that a hearing upon the preliminary budget will be held at the courthouse beginning at ten o'clock on the morning of Monday, August 21, at which time any taxpayer may appear and be heard for or against any part of the budget, and upon the conclusion of the hearing the final adoption of the budget will be in order.

OLD LOUISVILLE, more generally known in these later years as Poor's Store, was destroyed in the forest fire of last weekend in the Kelsey district. The house, store and barn were burned, and with them numerous items of value as reminders of the pioneer period and intimately associated with the memory of James W. Marshall, discoverer of gold at Coloma. The views above show (upper) the ruins of the residence; and (below) the ruins of the store. Will Poor, surviving son of pioneer parents, is shown pointing to the ruins. The photos are a courtesy of Lloyd L. Vye, educational advisor of Caldor CCC Camp.

KELSEY FOREST FIRE'S SWEEP THROUGH NEIGHBORHOOD TOLD

(By Our Kelsey Correspondent)

All is now quiet along the fire fronts — about thirty-three miles to patrol.

The fire originated in the hills east of Coloma and west of Kelsey near Polecat Canyon sometime during Friday. By night the citizens of the district, with Will Kelly, Jr., as director, backfired at Kelsey canyon to save the slate quarry buildings, the burning of which would have made it impossible to save the Kelsey postoffice and immediate lands adjoining.

By eleven o'clock Saturday morning the same citizens had to work hard to save Jess Miller's home and the Holt place, the Hanley property and the Gopher-Boulder property. The state crew was by that time assisting.

By noon the hills for a mile in length were a raging flame fanned by a high wind. The Will Poor house, barn and store were reduced to ashes although forest apparatus was present and working.

Men worked hard to save the schoolhouse. One set of men worked on the north toward the St. Lawrence and Amazon mines where two families were trapped for several hours. As the roads were fire-swept north of Poor's, all help had to take the road east of Kelsey to reach the Ponderosa Way.

The Burketts, who had recently built two houses and fences, got out with just the bedding and clothing that could be placed in a coupe. Everything, including a splendid vegetable garden and seventy-five chickens were reduced to ashes.

The most miraculous work was the saving of the new Healy home, not quite completed. On account of all roads near it flaming on both sides, help was delayed. The Heals moved what could be placed on their car and abandoned their property when voices from the Ponderosa Way announced the arrival of seven of the neighbors who backfired in the face of a roaring wall of fire and saved the Healy property. Gil Cook was afire and threw himself into the canal at this point.

Will Kelly, Jr., and Will Kelly, Sr., with Mr. Nixon saved the Reese (Continued on page 4)

At the high school, several of the branches were said to have been torn from trees and on Bee Street, where trees had been planted on city property by private persons as a contribution to the beauty of the vicinity, a large branch was broken from one tree and another smaller tree was entirely broken off.

The type of person who would deliberately commit such destruction needs instruction along the lines of respect for the property and rights of others.

JUDGE LANGDON DIED TODAY

State Supreme Court
Loses Second Member
In Recent Months

BURLINGAME, Cal. (UP)—William Henry Langdon, 65, associate justice of the California supreme court, died today at his Hillsborough home.

Langdon had been on the supreme court since 1937 after serving in other public offices.

A native of Alameda county and a graduate of the University of Los Angeles, he was practicing law in San Francisco when he was elected city superintendent of schools there. In 1906 he was elected district attorney of San Francisco county.

He moved to the bench in 1915 when he was chosen a superior judge of Stanislaus county. After four years in this post, he became a member of the state court of appeals. He was serving in that position when he was advanced to the supreme court in 1927.

His death was the second in the state's highest court in recent months. Associate Justice Emmett Seawell died earlier in the summer.

100 Millions For Warplanes

Largest Single Military
Order In Nation's History
Contracted Thursday

WASHINGTON (UP)—The war department today awarded contracts for expansion of the nation's air forces totaling more than $100,000,000, the largest single order for war equipment in U. S. history.

The order covered $85,978,000 worth of airplanes and engines, including over $21,000,000 worth of four-motored bombing planes some of which are of the same type which recently flew across the continent at an average speed of 264 miles an hour.

Contracts for two-engined bombers to Consolidated Air Craft Corp., San Diego, for $8,450,000; and Boeing Aircraft Co., Seattle, for $8,090,000, with further options to the company amounting to $5,400,000.

Contracts for two-engined bombers were awarded to Glenn L. Martin Co., Baltimore, and North American Aviation Inc., Inglewood, California, amounting to $15,815,000 and $11,771,000 respectively. These planes are known as "medium bombers" and are a new type for the army air corps.

The army said that with equipment, supplied by the army and by individual contracts to be let later, the value of the planes ordered today would be brought over the $100,000,000 mark.

AT WHAT AGE SHOULD GIRLS HAVE FIRST DATES?

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

IT DOES not often occur to the average parent that puberty dawns in the daughter from one to two years earlier than in the son, and that because of her earlier physiological development she, as a rule, should be expected to be "boy crazy" a year or two earlier than her brother is "girl crazy."

The girl's earlier interest in the opposite sex, together with the traditional protectiveness toward the daughter by the parents, has caused them, it seems, to neglect guidance of their son. They forever warn their daughters against the barbarism of boys, but are little concerned about taming their own young "barbarian" properly to respect the girl. If we parents did as much to make our sons fit to be with girls as we do our daughters to be safe with boys, adolescent relationships would become more wholesome.

None the less, we know our daughters do need protection, and most right after sex-maturity. Since a great many parents don't protect their daughters adequately in the early teens, your daughter or mine may think we are very old-fashioned, even unreasonable, when we don't let her, at 12, 13, or 14, go places all alone with a boy friend.

"All the other girls have this privilege," is the almost universal complaint. But let us not be frightened by this cry.

Not All Safe
 Not all daughters at so early age are entirely safe with such privilege. I wish parents, years before the daughter approaches puberty, even in the child's infancy, would prepare to meet the problems of this critical period. There are two major essentials: one, that parental authority be well established years before; another, that the mother earn the confidence and companionship of her daughter.

Whether the daughter shall properly be allowed to have "dates" at 14, 15 or later will depend upon how well this mother-daughter comradeship has been cultivated, and upon the degree of responsibility and dependability the daughter has acquired.

The wise mother, carefully studying her daughter, will have an understanding with her as to when she may expect to have "dates." In the meanwhile, this mother will provide many opportunities for her daughter to have, under adequate protection, social contacts with many boys. Accordingly, ways will be devised for attracting numerous boys as well as girls to the home.

Most bird eggs are in the traditional egg-shape, but the egg of the sand grouse is oblong, something like a medicine capsule, and that of the plover is pear shaped.

Household Hint

Surface scratches on furniture may be made less conspicuous by coloring them. Rub them with an application of turpentine and linseed oil. If the finish of the piece has a high gloss, rub it down with powdered pumice and oil to help make the scratches less noticeable. If the scratches are deep into the wood, the only thing to do is to strip the furniture down to its natural wood, sandpaper out as much of the mark as possible, and then refinish the article.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK. (UP)—Six weeks ago, when the Yankees were hotter than a feathered in the tropics, Clark Griffith made the headlines by saying the New Yorkers were not a super team, were due for a bad slump, and probably would have a tough time winning the American League race.

For his opinion he was ridiculed in print, pointed out on the street, and put on the mailing list of some of the better psychiatrists. Now, with the Yankees floundering in the throes of a bad slump and apparently headed for a tough battle to win the pennant, it seemed only fair to give Mr. Griffith a chance to gloat, even if only by long distance phone from Washington.

But he took the fulfillment of his prediction in stride, avoiding even so much as one "I told you so" during our five minute talk.

"They're a dead-tired ball club, the Yanks," Griffith said. "They were all in against us Tuesday. Had no life, no lift. That was to be expected. They hit their peak early in the year, played themselves out a bit. Now they've let down. Maybe they didn't mean to, but they have just the same. And you know what happens to any sport when a team or a player eases off and then tries to get back in stride. It takes time. Just can't be done in a second."

Did he think the Yanks would come out of the slump?

"Can't tell. But I'll tell you one thing. Take either Dickey or DiMaggio from the Yanks and they would be just another baseball team, cut right down to the level of the rest of the league. Great teams are built around great stars. Gehrig, Rickey, and DiMaggio have been the Yankees for a good while. They're missing Gehrig now. Missing him plenty. You don't take a hitter like Lou away from a team and not have him missed."

Griffith then pointed out that when DiMaggio was lost to the Yanks early in the season and they went on winning lots of critics said the team was so strong it didn't need Joe.

"That was absurd. Where would they be now if he still was out? The critics said Gehrig's loss wouldn't hurt, either. It didn't for a little while but they're missing him now over the long pull. No, I've been in baseball 52 years, and have seen the bones of champions and so-called super-teams scattered from Maine to Florida. Time cuts them all down big and little. And time is working on the Yanks right now. A little slowing up of two or three Yankee players and the parade will go right on by 'em."

Griffith said he had not made his prediction concerning the present Yankees without a thought to the past. He recalled the Yankees of the early twenties who swept to pennants in 1921, 1922 and 1923, only to finish a dismal seventh in 1925. He also mentioned the Yanks of 1922, who, after building up a tremendous lead in the early part of the season behind the pitching of the "big five"—Hoyt, Pennington, Shawkey, Jones and Bush—went into a nose dive and scarcely beat out the St. Louis Browns in a photo finish.

Having forgotten to make the call a collect one we said "goodbye" and let Mr. Griffith's case against the Yanks rest right there.

Placerville's Municipal Sewage Disposal Project. In December, 1937, the first contract was let for the beginning of the $87,000 project; on February 23rd, 1939 all contracts were completed and the whole system, including the disposal plant, was put into operation. The improvements consisted of a cast iron sewer line laid in Hangtown Creek from the Easterly city limits to the Westerly city limits. A four-inch line was also laid in Emigrant Ravine and Cedar Ravine Creeks and connected with the main line in Hangtown Creek. A modern and efficient sewage disposal plant was constructed at the lower end of town where all sewage is treated chemically and disposed of. The United States Government contributed $37,617.00 toward this project.

In July, 1938, the City Council made application to the Federal Government for a grant allotment for the purpose of making extensions and additions to the Municipal Filtration Plant. The estimated cost of this project amounted to $18,959.00, $10,833.00 of which was furnished by the City from profits derived from their water works system and the additional $8,126.00 was furnished by the United States Government. The improvements consisted of one new clear water basin with a capacity of 250,000 gallons, one redwood clear water washing tank with 40,000 gallon capacity, three-fourths of a mile of new cast iron pipe leading from the filtration plant down Clark Street to Pacific Street and thence to Benham Street. The City of Placerville now has two clear water basins with a storage capacity of 415,000 gallons instead of 165,000 gallons as in the past. This increase assures the City of adequate fire protection at all times of an ample supply of water for irrigating purposes during the summer months.

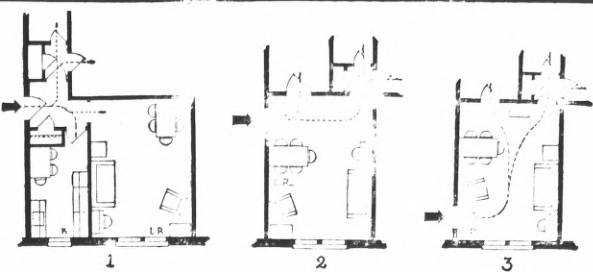

Sixty-five building permits were issued with a total valuation of $156,982.00, of which forty-two were for new residences. The remaining twenty-three permits were for business buildings, improvements and alterations.

During the early part of the summer about ten miles of city streets were graded, oiled and sanded. Cottage Street, from Union Street to the Grammar School, was graded, resurfaced, and put into excellent condition. North Washington Street was widened, graded and resurfaced. This work was done with funds received from 1/2 cent gas tax allocation to cities from the State and a certain approved system of major streets is being improved and maintained.

To the tax payer who has to foot the bill, there is nothing very encouraging in the fact that expenses of city governments throughout the state have increased approximately 20 per cent in the last ten years. Yet high though he figure appears to be, there is nothing in them to justify the oft repeated charge of wastefulness in municipal government?

Every public official knows that his greatest problem is to combat pressure from this or that individ-

Planning the Living Room

The living room should be the largest room in a home, Federal Housing Administration officials say. If possible, it should be entered through a small foyer which acts as a buffer against direct intrusion. Where this is not possible, the entrance should be at the end of the room opposite the windows. The necessity of passing diagonally through the living room to reach other rooms of the home should be avoided. In planning the arrangement of the living room in a new home with relation to the entrance and to internal traffic, the above illustrations should be helpful, FHA officials point out. Number 1 is considered a good arrangement, Number 2 fair, and Number 3 poor.

SCOUTING

Troop 57 News

"Hi, ho, come to the Fair!" Which is just what we did last Thursday. Getting to the Scout Lodge at 6:00—well, theoretically that early, anyway—a large group of El Dorado county Scouts embarked in private cars for Sacramento, and there took a train to Oakland, from whence our brave band of Argonauts sailed across the briny deep in a mighty liner—that is, took a ferry, to Treasure Island. After seeing the sights, the weary wayfarers turned toward home and arrived in town in the usual group for greater extensions of public service. Every thoughtful citizen wants to see the municipal expenses reduced. Yet he well may ask himself whether there is any chance of doing this unless he is willing to forego some of the services he is now receiving.

"We sma' hours" of the morning. This excursion having been terminated, our attentions were immediately focused on the County Fair, and various plans for participation in the fair have been discussed.

To rest our minds after pondering over this mighty matter, we plan to camp Monday and Tuesday at Blackbird Camp, near Riverfront. So you see, at a time when most organizations are prostrated by the heat, the Boy Scouts are "up and at 'em!"—Bill Dillinger.

Auto Safety
Need Told

the mature driver, 45 to 50 years old, in the same number of driving miles.

Furthermore, this record is getting worse. In the last eleven years there has been a 25 per cent decrease in traffic deaths of children five to nine years old, and only a slight increase in traffic deaths of children ten to fourteen years old.

But for those between the ages of fifteen and nineteen years, the high school age, there has been in the same period an increase of one hundred thirty per cent in traffic deaths. Why?

Because fifteen is about the age when youngsters begin to drive.
They learn "any old way" and pick up most of the bad driving habits of their elders. They go out, bubbling with the spirit of youth, reckless and free, and smash themselves up.

Parents are worried about this condition. Automobile clubs and manufacturers are trying to solve the problem because for business reasons they find here a sales resistance that is difficult to overcome.

The answer seems to be with the schools of our Nation. We, as teachers, know it is our job to take the child when he is ready to learn and give him the training to be a more useful citizen. The schools must accept the responsibility of getting competent instructors and include in their curricula classes in highway driving. This can be done with exceptional results as a later article will show.

Household Hint

Water color paint marks are as a rule easily removed from washable fabrics, but from materials like finished silk it is very difficult to get out all of the pigments. The Department of Agriculture recommends that the stain be sponged with glycerine until the watercolor is removed, and then sponged again with lukewarm water.

place. The fire reduced Jack Lessley's barn to ashes with tons of hay and nearly half his pear orchard is ruined. One hundred fruit boxes had been thrown into the orchard for pickers and those added to the blaze. Men had to work desperately to save his house.

By Saturday evening nearly five hundred men came from the Forest Service, veterans from a Mt. Diablo CCC camp and CCC from other counties as the fire was by that time almost in the national forest on the side of Kelsey district.

On Saturday evening the fire from Kelsey Canyon had worked down and crossed into Texas Canyon and reduced those hills to blackened waste. Again the citizens took to back-firing from the south side of Kelsey to save the Big Sandy and Gray Eagle property as well as the town.

The people who were near mining tunnels packed up at the order of officers and repaired to the tunnels with all their personal effects.
Mr. Shay, owner of the Lost Chance, east of Poors, was aroused by the roar of a wall of fire and escaped to his mining shaft, saving nothing.

The area is still being patrolled by state CCC but all is quiet.
